

Alaska Medicaid Transitions to Denali Care

New program name also comes with new recipient eligibility cards.

In January, 2014, Alaska Medical Assistance will retire the name Alaska Medicaid and transition to the name Denali Care. Alaska Medicaid recipients will also receive newly redesigned eligibility cards beginning with the eligibility month of January. The new eligibility cards will contain the same identifying information presented in an easier to read format. Below is an example of the redesigned eligibility cards.

Covered services and recipient eligibility criteria are not affected by these changes. No action is required from you as a provider.
